The Metropolitan Museum in Tokyo is a place not only devoted to contemporary photography, but also in optical imaging. This presentation is not exhaustive, attempts to capture all activity abundant and prolific of Japanese culture in terms of multimedia and digital media. This book meets the gaze of several artists around the theme of artificial intelligence. The growing importance of new technology and the dawn of mechanization XXIe l'homme and machine. Generating fascination and rejection, coexistence with the new robotic environments allows here to observe the interactions with the daily.
