

Out of Sight
OUT OF SIGHT
Ellen Kooi

Bernard Marcelis, Frits Gierstberg

Ellen Kooi, a photographer from the Netherlands, shines especially aesthetic natural result of his photographs: landscapes, which are always thoroughly investigated the scene of great characters, with a striking presence. Photographer and "set designer" at the time, Ellen Kooi uses landscapes ideal for producing images that appear straight out of a dream or a great country. His work tends toward an ideal, where the eternal search for balance between beauty and romance, reality and fiction award. The fruit of his labor? Snapshots full of innuendo, contradictions emerging, characters who speak for themselves, with their loneliness, their vulnerability and their relationship with their surroundings. An ambience of its own, a light crude in appearance, size enigmatic, captivating and spontaneous details that make the work of this artist, a work of a new genus.
