She delves into the unknown, ready to explore this uncharted territory with the same passion for authenticity and human connection that characterizes her work.

Whether you are an art enthusiast or simply seeking a glimpse into the human soul through the lens, Carole Bellaïche's journal provides an unforgettable experience that transcends time and space. Join Carole on her journey to Le Perche, a region she had never explored before, and discover how, regardless of being twenty or eighty years old, each face holds a presence, uniqueness, and intimacy of universal value.

During her residency, Carole Bellaïche developed a deep connection with Le Perche, capturing numerous images. Her photographic approach aimed to find beauty in others, with careful attention to choosing settings and establishing a personal connection with each subject. The Norman houses of Le Perche presented a challenge due to limited light and dark interiors, but Carole Bellaïche managed to create evocative rays of light. The surprising locations of Le Perche inspired her portraits without prior scouting. Carole Bellaïche viewed her time in Le Perche as an offering to her vision, thereby rendering her visual interpretation of the region.
