

Zone d'intervention précaire

Jean-Michel Fauquet

Francis Cohen

Intervention area is precarious a book in which images photographed the text, which means reveal the narrative photographs. The text does not therefore comment on the photographs, photographs developed by the time of a memory that included "event photography" in a fantasy dimension. The iconography chosen would return to become a photographic memory. The photographic work of Jean-Michel Fauquet is the faithful recovery of the arts of memory.

Francis Cohen and Jean-Michel Fauquet offer a book that continues to separate the light and vision, which widens the gap for us away from photography.

The challenge would be: what can we see a photograph that we look? How to direct our gaze?

A topographical guides the path of the eye through areas which offer the eye views.
