

Le dehors absolu
ISLANDE ET DÉSERT DU NAMIB
Thibaut Cuisset

Philippe Lacoue-Labarthe

Thibaut Cuisset seeks to represent a powerful and discreet, the essence of the landscape. Based on soft colors and deductions, it shows that the territory is not fixed, it is the result of history and multiple interventions. Here Iceland is a volcanic island, rich colors, mineral chaos peeled from the cold, the youngest geological landscape of the planet, a desert without ever moving. Conversely, the Namib Desert in Namibia is still a desert, considered the oldest and driest on the planet.
